IS PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING AND EVENING.
(Sunday excepted)
BY HENRY FOWLER & CO.
At the Tribune Buildings, No. 53 Clark street, next door South of the Post Office.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

[illegible]

THE CHICAGO TRI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE is published Tuesday's, Thursday's and Saturday's in time for the earliest evening mails. It is of the same size with the large Morning Daily and contains all the reading matter of two days. This is an excellent edition for residents in the country. It will be furnished to mail subscribers at the low price of $4.00 a year in advance.

The CHICAGO WEEKLY TRIBUNE contains all the valuable reading matter of the Daily, comprising the latest intelligence by Telegraph and the Mails, Market Reports, Literary Reviews, one choice Story each week, and furnishes more reading than the large sheet of the New York Weekly Tribune. It is published every Friday at the low price of $2.00 a year in advance. Ten copies to one address $15.00. Twenty Copies to one address $25.00.

CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE

The Publishers of The Tribune deem it a fit time to make a brief statement of their purpose and plan.

DAILY TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, WEDNESDAY APRIL 13, 1853.

[illegible]

For Notices of Insurance Companies and Banks, see the first and second Columns on the fourth page.

Mr. L. Lamoreux is the Agent for the Tribune along the line of the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad.

Our Minister to Spain.

The N. Y. Tribune says of Soule' who has been appointed to Madrid, that he gave assurance that he would not accept the Spanish Mission, except upon one condition, and that condition he did not suppose the Administration would grant. Upon being questioned as to what it was, he replied that it was that he should have unlimited powers for the purchase of Cuba.

We infer, therefore, that Mr. Soule is invested with unrestricted authority to bargain for that island. This is the object for which he goes. We may be sure he will exert all his skill, all his adroitness, and all his ability to accomplish this object. He is possessed of a boundless ambition, and we don't know anything he would not do to signalize his diplomatic career, and give eclat to his name to the extent that would be done by the annexation of Cuba through his efforts. We are prepared, therefore, for any kind of a project, and any sort of a demonstration which looks toward this result.

Japan Expedition.—The Japan expedition is not to be recalled nor weakened. It is true that the ship of the line Vermont will not be despatched to join it, but she was never anything more than an ornamental or constructive addition to the squadron. Though ordered to be got ready for that service five months since, her equipment could not be completed in less than three months to come. Commodore Perry sailed four months ago; the larger part of his command was in the China seas when he set out. In all probability the objects of his expedition would have been accomplished, or would have failed, before any orders from this administration could reach him.

Liquor Law.—The returns of the recent election in Rhode Island show that the people are in favor of continuing the prohibitory liquor law, although it is believed that they have elected a majority to the Assembly who are opposed to that measure. The latest accounts from Connecticut announce a majority of the House just elected to be in favor of the Maine Law.

Santa Anna.—Advices from the city of Mexico to the 21st ult. state that the votes of the different States for President were officially counted some days previously, of which Santa Anna received eighteen, and other candidates five. Santa Anna was therefore formally declared duly elected to the chief office of the nation, and would be inaugurated immediately upon his arrival at the capital. A solemn treaty, providing for the fulfilment of the Sloo contract, had been entered into between the American Minister and the Mexican Commissioners.

New Mountain Pass.—Col. Miles, U. S. A., (3rd infantry,) communicates information to the Fort Smith (Ark.) Herald, that a new pass thro' the mountains in New Mexico has been discovered, by means of which San Francisco can be reached by "a journey of twenty-five days for loaded wagons" from Albuquerque.

The New York Journal of Commerce of the 4th publishes an exposure of the tricks by which the petitions in favor of the Broadway Railroad were gotten up. The total signatures of the petitions number 27,958; of these less than six thousand are names that can be found in the Directory, 17,266 could not be found, and 4,657 were merely combinations of letters spelling no intelligible name! It is also shown that names purporting to be those of men employed in foundries, are not known to the employers, or men in those establishments.

Capt. Hollister's splendid new steamer, St. Lawrence, was launched at Buffalo on Thursday, from the ship yard of the Messrs. Jones. The Express says the St. Lawrence is one of the best specimens of ship building ever put afloat.

We learn from N. Y. papers that Senor Castellon, of Nicaragua, will be appointed minister to this country in place of Senor Marcoleta.

The Saut St. Marie Canal Commissioners Enjoined.

The Detroit Free Press says:—We understand that an injunction has been granted by Judge Johnson, of the Supreme Court, upon the application of some of the unsuccessful bidders for the Saut Ste Marie Canal contract, restraining the Commissioners from executing a contract with Messrs. Corning and company. We are not advised of the grounds of the injunction, but learn that the matter will be heard by Judge Johnson on the 12th of May ensuing.

Intemperance and Taxes.

The Milwaukee Sentinel has the following appeal to tax payers, and it is of very general application:

"Tax payers, wake when you learn the startling fact that, ten or a dozen commitments take place in a week; remember that the costs are from $30 to $100 a week—besides board at $2,00 to 2,25 a week each—including costs of trial, commitments, &c., and that is $35 to $600 a year, and the tax payers grumble; but, now enquire into the cause of such heavy taxes.

"The costs of criminal prosecutions, commitments and board, during the past year, have been probably not less than ten to fifteen thousand dollars—and who does not know that three fourths of it has been caused directly, or indirectly, by the use of intoxicating drinks? What caused the murder of Ross and poor Gullen?—drinking—drinking—the testimony in the case of Ross was a history of grog-shops and drinking—getting him so drunk as to make him an easy victim;—and who does not know that Gullen was murdered beside a whiskey-keg filled with the funds of his own hard earnings; and who that reads the Police reports in the city papers, does not know that the robberies, rows, assaults and batteries, riots and outrages are not the natural fruits of the Liquor Traffic."

Nick of the Woods, or Jibbenainosay, a Tale of Kentucky. By R. M. Bird, M. D., the Author of "Calavar," [illegible] D. B. Cooke & Co., Chicago.

This is a revised edition of a story that was quite popular fifteen years ago, and was quite extensively dramatized. It describes Western Colonization, and Kentucky border life. Indian warfare being a principal theme. It was a work of exciting interest, and we could not expect to see it republished, if it were not one of merit. Many will recognize it as an old favorite.

The steamship Prometheus arrived off Charleston Wednesday evening, short of coal. She was six days from San Juan, and her passengers were twenty-two days from San Francisco, having left that port on the steamship Pacific on the morning of the 15th inst. The Purser states that the San Juan difficulty is all settled. The Cyane was still there.

From Galena.

The steamer West Newton left Galena last week, upward bound, in the hope of getting through to St. Paul.

Arthur Spring has been re-convicted, in Philadelphia, of the murder of Mrs. Lynch and her sister. He still persists in solemnly asserting his own entire innocence, and accusing his son of the horrible deed.

Miss Julia Dean is playing at the "Varieties" in St. Louis.

THE TYROL.

European Correspondence of the Tribune.

Supper at the Hotel of Bad Kreuth—Conversation with some Germans—Ride from Kreuth to Innsbruck, by Stellwagen—New Companion in the latter—Lake Achensee—Rainer Minstrels—Town of Hall—Schloss Ambras—Arrival at Innsbruck.

Signor Bellino found himself so exhausted by the fatigues of travel, and his aquatic sports that immediately upon arrival at the inn, he repaired to his room, where I found him soon after engaged with a quiet cup of tea, and fully determined to go to bed immediately after it.—I cut short my stay rather than interfere with so wise a resolution, and descended into the dining room, where some twenty persons were gathered, all of them Germans, save I. As we sat down to supper, our opposite neighbor was the gentleman who had been our fellow passenger by the Stellwagen from Tegernsee, and whom I afterwards found to be a physician from Innsbruck. He was a good-looking man, only that an immense black beard and moustache gave him so fierce an appearance, that his likeness would have made no inappropriate frontispiece for a Tale of Blood. I found however that this chilling appearance was all upon the surface, and that when once thawed, no man could be pleasanter. We fell into conversation very soon, and as he had happened to notice my name in the Hotel record at Tegernsee, he showed very great desire to learn something from me respecting America. I answered all his questions as well as I was able, nor his only, for very soon the whole current of conversation set in the same direction, and continued so during the evening.

There is no country respecting which Germans are so eager for information as our own.—The immense emigration thither, easily accounts for this, it being difficult to find a man who has not, either some remote idea of going thither himself, or has not some one or more relatives already there. One who mixes much with Germans will be likely to be asked a hundred times if he had ever heard anything of a Jacob Schmidt who went to New York five years ago, and worked for a year there as a baker, and wrote home to his parents once every six weeks, and twice sent some money; but lately they had heard nothing about him, only that Heinrich Nagel, who came home for a visit a year ago, said he believed that Jacob had gone west. New Orleans, New York, and the States of Ohio and Illinois, are the German's admitted facts respecting the United States, while slavery, the naturalization laws, the price of labor, and the Mormons, are very fertile subjects of enquiry.—You know they are a great reading people, and as every place of any considerable size has its one or more reading rooms, and they find more time to spend there, they are pretty well posted up generally upon all newspaper statements—Of late, the Illustrirte Zeitung, which is published at Leipsic, and is the Illustrated News of Germany, has contained a series of articles upon the Mormons, (die Mormonen) accompanied by numerous illustrations that would astonish Brigham Young himself. And as the ideas of Germans respecting distances in the United States, are sometimes not very accurate, the idea of several thousands of Latter Day Saints being settled about 100 miles from New York, building a temple, and living undisturbed in the daily practice of polygamy, is rather startling to the German mind. Our frequency of Railway accidents is another wonder topic, involving a thorough knowledge of the construction of a cow-catcher, and the fact that in America railway crossings have no bar, nor a guard stationed, but only a notice to travellers, that they must look out for the Engine while the Bell rings.

Upon the different topics hinted at in the above paragraph, our conversation ran on for two or three hours. The Germans told me what an immense number of emigrants had gone this year from Hesse Darmstadt, from Bavaria, and from the Kingdom of Wurtemburg, and F. and I in turn tried to answer their enquiries as to what sort of a country they would find when they got there. One great inducement to emigration among journeymen, I found, was the difficulty which one of them had in beginning business upon his own account, the amount of money necessary to be paid for procuring a right or license so to do being very great comparatively, and thus putting it out of the means of a vast number. With us upon the contrary, there is no such restriction. I was a little amused at a remark of the Innsbruck physician, respecting my having been in Italy. He could not understand how such a thoroughly practical man, or, as he expressed it, such a rein practischer mensch, as he supposed every American to be, could enjoy that country. He could not understand how the American could feel any desire to travel further than England where were so many manufactories, railroads and steamboats.

Our conversation lasted until after ten, and I would willingly have listened longer but remembered that I had ordered a fire in my chambers, that I might do a little writing, and I was obliged to bid the company good night, and go thither. My employment kept me up later than I had expected, and as I wrote on, until every light in the building save my own, was extinguished, and felt how quiet and deserted everything was about me, that only a few days before had been so noisy and crowded, I felt that one of the very loneliest places a man can find is a large Hotel of a favorite watering place, when the season is ended.

Upon looking out of my window upon the following morning, I was greatly disappointed to find rain. I should have been glad to remain long enough for one or two excursions in the neighborhood of the Baths, or at any rate to have proceeded upon foot from thence towards Innsbruck. As it was, we took the Stellwagen, which left shortly after. Signor Bellino had risen early enough to obtain a front seat with the driver. Inside, were the Innsbruck doctor, another German, F——, and myself. The road was exceedingly wild and picturesque after we had left Kenth, running through a narrow pass where the mountains were richly green, but almost savage in their aspect. A brook rustled along the road side, and we noticed several beautiful cascades.

I have spoken of another German who occupied the interior of the Stellwagen. He was a man who had been long enough in London to get a pretty good smattering of English, to dress in English fashion, and to feel rather of a contempt for Germany. This I couldn't stand, believing that if a man were born in Patagonia, he ought to have an earnest eye for its beauties, and that in any event, there is no excuse for a German who forgets Fatherland. This man, however, was quite amusing at his own expense, relating his London adventures, informing us how much he knew about it, and of several very clever business operations. Among other things, he said that a German friend of his, a physician, came to London, and was unable to speak a word of the language. That his friend was very anxious to buy a certain book, picture, or something of the sort, and he knew it. So one day he went into a shop with him and bought the article for ten shillings. A little while after he persuaded his friend that it was the last and only one to be had, and saying nothing about the price he had himself given, he succeeded in selling it for five pounds sterling. I told the Innsbruck doctor afterwards, that I thought this a rather dubious proof of friendship. "Ya wohl Mein Herr," said he, Sie haben Recht. But do you know what I take that man to be? He's a Kellner, (waiter,) Ein ganz gemeiner Kerl."

Lake Achensee, along the shore of which the road runs, is a very beautiful sheet of water, eight miles in length. Had it been favorable weather, we should have followed the usual custom, and taking a boat, been rowed to the farther end. As it was we could only admire it through the rain. The mountains rise boldly from its shores, and are very grand; the scenery in places reminding me of the highlands of our own Hudson. It is a curious fact, that at the time of the Lisbon earthquake, this Lake fell three feet below its usual level, nor recovered it for twenty-four hours.

Our passports were very carefully examined at the Austrian frontier, but our baggage was left untouched, upon our declaration that we had nothing contraband. The officials were exceedingly polite, and it is possible that we owed this easy escape to the Innsbruck doctor, who seemed very well acquainted with them. Certain articles are not admitted within the precincts of the double eagle, even upon payment of duty; such as playing cards, tobacco, in every form, almanacs, and sealed letters. The three first are Government monopolies.

We dined at the town of Schwarz, in which the landlord of the hotel, "Zur Post," is a brother of the Rainer Minstrels, whom you very well remember. Around the rooms of the Inn, were pictures of them in costume as seen upon their songs. He was a jolly looking fellow, fat enough for any landlord, and told us that we should find one of the brothers who went to America, keeping an Inn in the Ziller Thal. We told him we had heard them sing in the United States, and he looked as if he had heard that remark before.

The rain ceased late in the forenoon, and the day continued pleasant until we reached Innsbruck, when it again began to pour. As we drove slowly along through the Innthal, or valley of the Inn, we were delighted with the sight of several picturesque castles upon green mountain sides, and the verdant meadows through which rushed the swollen river that gives it its name. We passed villages having white churches, very neat, and very quaint, whose graveyards were filled with crosses, whose graves grew, very greenly, as if well watched and watered. There were numberless shrines and crosses along the road-side; we saw peasants with sugar loaf hats, and stockings having no feet, as well as two or three women dressed in pantaloons into which the frock had been tucked. The town of Hall through which we passed, is celebrated for its salt mines, yet had greater interest to us, for having in its churchyard the grave of Spechbacher, who was the companion of Andrew Hofer, and a leader of the Tyrolese in their renowned struggle. Hall and its vicinity were the scenes of his most memorable exploits.

Schloss Ambras, which we noticed upon approaching Innsbruck, is now chiefly visited on account of a very fine view from it. Yet it is a castle celebrated in history, and frequently mentioned in the chronicles of the 12th and 16th centuries. The present edifice was erected upon the site of the old castle, by the Arch-duke Ferdinand, Count of Tyrol, who in 1564 presented his beautiful wife, Phillipina, with the new Schloss Ambras. It was her favorite summer residence, and Ferdinand spared no pains in forming the very valuable collection of suits of armour, and other curiosities once known as the Ambras Sammlung, but which is now in the lower Belvedere Gallery at Vienna. It was transported to Austria in 1796 to keep it from falling into the hands of the French, and on the cession of the Tyrol to Bavaria, by the treaty of Presburg. Of its kind it is one of the finest collections existing.

We were detained long enough at the entrance of the town of Innsbruck for delivering up our passports, receiving certificates for the same, and then driving on past a very fine suspension bridge which here spans the river, our conveyance stopped at the sign of the Golden Star.

Truly yours, E.

The South.

A gentleman particularly well fitted for the position by his good sense, habits of calm observation, experience in traveling and skill as a writer is employed by the N. Y. Times to travel through the South, and give the results to the country though the columns of that paper—We have read his successive letters with attention and great interest. Their reliability, candor and accuracy of statement are peculiarly gratifying. They cannot but work out much good for both the north and south, by a mutual enlightenment which shall lead to a kindlier judgment on the one hand, and a more effective remedy of a great social evil on the other. He closes his last letter with the following expression of his convictions, which is worthy of attention.

"I must declare that the Virginia slave is more happy, more comfortable, and in some sense more free and in better and more manly relation to his masters, than the Irish peasant or the English agricultural laborer is to the "higher classes" of these countries. I wonder not that the London Times moves against "Uncle Tom." It has a cut backward which its hundreds of thousands of English readers will not lose. Slavery will not die until the world has humbled itself to learn a lesson from it. Oh, God! who are we that condemn our brother? No slave ever killed its own offspring in cool calculation of saving money by it, as do English free women. No slave is forced to eat of corruption, as are Irish tenants. No slave freezes to death for want of habitation and fuel, as have men in Boston. No slave reels into the abyss of God, from want of work that shall bring it food, as do men and women in New York.

Oh, Christian capitalists, free traders in labor, there is somewhat to be built up, as well as somewhat to be abolished before we repose in the millenium.

New York Collector.

The Detroit Advertiser gives the following sketch of Judge Bronson's life:

His age is about sixty-five. He made his first appearance in political life as a Clintonian member of the Assembly of New York, from the county of Oneida, in January 1822. He was appointed by Mr. Van Buren, Attorney General of the State of New York, in April 1829, in place of Mr. Talcott. In 1835, he was appointed Associate Judge of the Supreme Court by Gov. Marcy, in place of Judge Sutherland, who had resigned, and in 1845 he was appointed by Gov. Wright, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in place of Judge Nelson, who had been transferred to the Bench of the Supreme Court of the United States, upon the death of Hon. Smith Thompson. In June, 1847, he was elected a member of the Court of Appeals under the new Constitution, and was designated as Chief Judge of that body. About three years since he resigned his position upon the Bench, and commenced the practice of law in the city of New York.—He is a lawyer of eminence, and a man of irreproachable private character, but is advanced in years and not peculiarly fitted either by past occupation, or present energies for the office of Collector of New York.

Central Railroad Movements.

The State Register says:

We learn that the Central company are pushing their work as rapidly as circumstances will admit. They are, however, much embarrassed by a scarcity of hands, but in a short time they expect to have a full supply.

It has been stated that they have disbursed a considerable amount of eastern bank notes. They give notice that all such paper will be redeemed by them at par, whether the banks are or are not solvent.

Many of the contractors are purchasing the most improved scrapers worked by horses. These will supply to a very great extent the deficiency of men. Various improvements in the art of digging and filling have been invented recently, all of which are admirably adapted to railroad construction in prairie regions and will be speedily introduced all over our State.

Sad Casualty.—Mr. Calvin Riley, a much esteemed citizen of Muskegon, was accidentally drowned in the lake on Saturday last. Mr. Riley and three others were making their passage to this place on board the "Convoy," a small coasting vessel. When near the mouth of the river, in a rough sea, the vessel capsized, but all on board succeeded in clinging to her until rescued by Mr. Woodruff Chapin, who with two other men hastened in a boat to their relief.—But disasters succeeded disaster. The boat containing rescued and rescuers soon swamped and capsized. With the greatest exertions all, except Mr. Riley, were saved, but not until one or two of their number had become completely exhausted.

It would be impossible to render Mr. Chapin a sufficient tribute of praise for the energy and courage displayed by him in this emergency.—The body of the deceased has not yet been recovered. He leaves a family to deplore an irreparable loss.—Grand River Times.

The body of Mr. Riley, above mentioned, arrived in this city, on the schooner Illinois, yesterday, on the way to Alton, where the deceased formerly lived, and where his remains are to be interred. His two sons,—one the editor of the Toledo Commercial Republican, and the other Mr. Wm. Riley, of this city,—accompanying his body, to perform the melancholy rite of consigning it to its last resting place.

Sheldon's Bank Note Detector is out punctually, this week, as usual.

Expressive.—The miners in California, when they wish to stop that stream of conversation, which is known in this part of the country as "gas," say "Dry up."

California—Fourteen Days Later.

By the Golden Gate from San Francisco to Panama, and by the Daniel Webster from Aspinwall to New Orleans, we have advices from San Francisco to March 15th, being fourteen days later than before received. The accounts, however, are meagre, being confined to the loss of the steamer Tennessee, of which we have been informed by telegraph, and the destruction of the village of Weaverville, on Trinity river, by fire. The loss by the last mentioned disaster is stated at $100,000. The Tennessee left Panama February 19th for San Francisco, and on the 1st of March touched at Acapulco. On the 6th, during a thick fog, being then about 70 miles from San Francisco, she went ashore, and could not be got off. The despatches speak of her as hopelessly lost. The passengers and crew were all saved, as were also the mails, and most of the freight in charge of the Expresses.—There was scarcely any other freight on board. The Tennessee was built in 1848, at a cost of some $200,000. Although her life has been short, she has done excellent service to her owners, Messrs. Howland & Aspinwall, and leaves them, as a dying legacy, $150,000, or so, in the shape of insurance, which had been effected upon her in England.

Gold is still abundant. The accounts from the mines are favorable. Gold mines of great value are reported to have been discovered in Oregon. The commercial reports are rather unsatisfactory; large arrivals of flour had caused prices to fluctuate, and the market closed dull, at $11a12 50.

Much anxiety was felt as to the fate of the Independence, of the Vanderbilt line, which was then out thirty days beyond her time.

The Illinois sailed from Aspinwall, for New York, on the 1st inst., with two and a half millions in gold, and six hundred passengers.

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser speaks of Mr. Hagar whose advertisement appears in another column, thus handsomely:

Back Again.—We took occasion some months since to notice the removal of Mr. Henry Hagar from this city to New York, and his engaging in the manufacture of Printing Type, in connection with his brother. But we are pleased to see him back again among us, as will be a large number of our citizens, his old friends and customers. He has re-embarked in his former business—the advertisement whereof will be found in our columns. Mr. H. has heretofore won the entire confidence of the community by his honorable dealing and strict integrity—by his public spirit and enterprise, and it is a matter of congratulation that he is now to become a permanent resident of Buffalo, and to reassume his position among her honored and successful business men.

Northern Pacific R. R.

The St. Louis Republican, after giving an abstract of our article on the Railroad to the Pacific via St. Pauls to Puget's Sound, and the charter obtained by R. J. Walker and others for as much of the road as lies in Minnesota Territory, says:

It is a matter of some doubt, whether any thing more is ever done with this scheme than to obtain the charter, though our northern neighbors are men of enterprise and build railroads while we are talking of them. Still it may be doubted whether this road is built, at least for many years. It is not the less necessary, however, to keep watch of them, and to see that they do not get ahead of us in the race for the Pacific. It shows the necessity of pushing our railroad, with all possible expedition, in the direction of the Pacific.

Agriculture of Ohio and Illinois.

Mr. E. D. Mansfield of Ohio, has prepared a statement of the Agriculture of that State during the year 1851, which cannot fail to be interesting to the people of the State of Illinois, for the reason, that what Ohio now is, Illinois soon will be in regard to its Agriculture. There is no other State in the Union possessing half as great Agricultural resources as either Ohio or Illinois, and none susceptible of supporting so large a population. Ohio is better adapted to the culture of Wheat than Illinois, as all timbered countries are better than the open prairies, but in Corn, the greatest of staples, Illinois is far her superior.

Mr. Mansfield makes the following statement of the Wheat crop of Ohio in 1851:

Wheat crop of 1851	[illegible]	bushels
Export to 1st Oct., 1852	[illegible]	"
Consumption	[illegible]	"
Remaining on hand	[illegible]	"

The surplus of this staple may be better understood from the fact that it exceeded, in quantity, the entire amount of Flour and Wheat exported from the United States to all Foreign ports, during the year 1852.

The total aggregate of exports, of Agricultural products from the State for the year 1852, was as follows:

Flour, bbls	[illegible]
Wheat, bushels	[illegible]
Corn	[illegible]
Beef, bbls	[illegible]
Cattle, number	[illegible]
Hams	[illegible]
Pork, bbls	[illegible]
Lard, kegs	[illegible]
Hogs, number	[illegible]
Lard Oil, bbls	[illegible]
Tallow, lbs	[illegible]
Tobacco, hhds	[illegible]
Seeds, bushels	[illegible]
Butter, lbs	[illegible]
Cheese	[illegible]
Whiskey, bbls	[illegible]
Wool, lbs	[illegible]
Beans, bbls	[illegible]

This certainly presents a formidable show of those staples which constitute the wealth of a people, and the material for Commerce. But, nevertheless, it is by no means equal to the exports of Illinois except as to Wheat,—when the population and internal channels of Commerce of the two States are considered. Ohio contains over 2,000,000 inhabitants; and to carry off her products from the interior, she has two Canals of over 500 miles in length, passing through the State from the Ohio River to Lake Erie; another Canal passing through the entire Northern part of the State to Lake Erie; and over 1200 miles of finished Railroads, that completely reticulate the State and furnish the Farmers of nearly every county an easy and cheap means of transporting their surplus products to Eastern markets. Illinois has only 100 miles of Canal, and, until the present year, has not had 160 miles of finished Railroad. Nevertheless, what are the facts? The exports of Corn, from Chicago alone, last year, equalled one half of the entire exports from Ohio; and the amount shipped from points on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers were equal to the other half. Of Oats, Illinois exports four times as many bushels as Ohio. The entire export from Cincinnati, which is the great shipping point from that State for the Southern market, was only about 7,000 bushels, while from Chicago alone, the amount was 2,030,317. The entire exportation of Oats from Illinois, last year, was not less than 4,000,000 bushels. It is very evident that the State of Illinois, with a population as large as that of Ohio, and the interior opened with Canals and Railroads to the same extent, would export not less than 35,000,000 bushels of Corn, 10,000,000 do of Wheat, and 8,000,000 do of Oats. In the exportation of Beef, Illinois is already ahead of Ohio, and in Pork not far behind,—for of the amount in the above table nearly one half is derived from Indiana and Kentucky. Within six years, when Illinois will have over 2,500 miles of completed Railroad within her borders, opening every county to a ready market, there is not a doubt that her exports of all of the staples enumerated by Mr. Mansfield, excepting Wheat will be equal to those of Ohio, and in Corn, Oats, Beef and Pork, double and treble them. By the end of the time specified above, also, Chicago alone will export more Corn and Oats than the whole State of Ohio now exports, or will probably export, at any future time.

The St. Louis Intelligencer in noticing the way in which Chicago Newspapers work for nothing and even pay for the privilege, says:

If Chicago can make her citizens pay her for the privilege of doing her corporate work, she has a secret of money-making that is enviable. Do the citizens build her town halls and clean her streets on the same profitable terms for her? If the editor of the Democrat thinks he is doing a meritorious or honorable act by giving away his labor to the injury of his fellow craftsmen, who, not being as rich as he, cannot afford to be as lavish, we think he is mistaken. Nor ought the city council to accept the terms of any bidder, who offers to work for nothing, or, worse, to pay for the permission to work.

Rail Road Bridge at Rockford.—The R. R. Democrat states that the Railroad bridge at that place is so far completed that the cars will cross this week. The Democrat remarks that this is a fine structure. It has been pushed forward by the company with commendable energy. The chief obstruction is now out of the way and the iron track will fast approach Freeport.

Minister to England.

Mr. Buchanan appointed.

By the Detroit mail last night we have the following interesting item.

The Senate met at noon, and immediately went into executive session. Mr. Buchanan was nominated as minister to England and confirmed.

Buchanan's appointment is the only thing of consequence done in executive session. There was barely a quorum present, and that was got by hard drumming up during the night.

Board of Trade.

At the meeting held on Monday evening, the following report from the Standing Committee was accepted:

The Standing Committee having had sundry matters under consideration, which they deem of importance to the Board, respectively report,—

1st. That in the opinion of your Committee, it is indispensable to the utility and permanency of the institution that rooms of ample size for the meetings of the Board be obtained, if practicable, at an early day, and recommend that a special Committee of three be appointed to confer with parties who are about erecting buildings, with a view to procuring suitable rooms.

2d. That effort ought to be made by members generally, to induce a larger portion of our business men to become members, and joinin the advantages which such institutions are known to afford, when well sustained.

3d. That under the Fifth Article of the Constitution it is made the duty of this Committee to inquire into and report upon such rules, regulations, commissions and rates of charges, as it may be deemed advisable to adopt and establish—and your Committee therefore report that in their judgment, the interest of the public would be promoted by a uniformity in such charges—especially in the rates of storage, handling of produce, wharfage, commissions for purchase and sale of the same, &c., &c.; and recommend that a Committee be appointed to report tariffs of charges for such services, and take measures, if the same are adopted by the Board, to secure their adoption by those engaged in the kinds of business alluded to.

4th. That this city is becoming an important market for the sale of lake fish—that hitherto much complaint has been made by dealers, on account of deficiency of weight, improper packing, and unmerchantable quality of the fish sold in this market; your Committee therefore recommend the adoption of the following:—

Resolved, That the Common Council of this city be, and they are hereby respectively requested to appoint Inspectors of Fish, and to pass ordinances requiring the inspection of all lake fish offered for sale in packages, and imposing penalties for the infraction of such ordinances.

Resolved, That a Committee of three be appointed to confer with the Council on the subject, and that the Secretary be directed to deliver a copy of the foregoing to the President of the Council.

5th. That under the Fifth Article of the Constitution, your Committees are required to report upon measures "affecting the mercantile and commercial community," and have accordingly had under consideration the fact that there is great want of an increase of banking facilities in this city, and do therefore present the following preamble and resolutions for the consideration of the Board, recommending their adoption.

The Board of trade of the city of Chicago, believing that the prosperity of a community in any department of industry, agricultural, manufacturing, or commercial, is intimately connected with, and in a great measure dependent upon, a currency, sufficient in amount for the purposes of legitimate trade, legally issued, and based upon actual value; that such representative of the products of industry should at all times be convertible into coin, at its nominal value, in order that the producer may receive the actual value of his labor; that a large proportion of the circulating medium now and heretofore in use in this section of the country, is not of that character; that as the city of Chicago constitutes the commercial and financial centre of an extensive, populous, and highly productive region, its citizens owe it to themselves and to those thus connected with them, to do all in their power to promote the general interests in this matter. It is therefore

Resolved, That the commerce of Chicago, amounting the last year, according to reliable statistics, to $30,000,000, furnishes conclusive evidence that the facilities afforded by our Banking institutions, are wholly inadequate to the necessities of trade, and bear but a small proportion to the amount of banking capital employed at other points with no greater commerce.

Resolved, That this Board regards the proposition for the establishment of a Bank in this city with a capital of Two Millions of Dollars, distributed as far as practicable among the operative portion of the community, as being the best mode of supplying the necessary amount of currency, and maintaining its nominal value.

That in the opinion of this Board, an institution, organized under such auspices, would command the confidence of the public, would be profitable to the holders of its stock, would obviate the necessity of using depreciated currency, and would exercise a salutary conservative influence in preventing frequent fluctuations in our money market.

That the enterprise alluded to, is therefore hereby earnestly commended to the favorable consideration of the public, with the wish for its speedy establishment.

All which is respectfully submitted.

Julius White,
Thos. Richmond,
A. G. Throop,
W. D. Houghteling,
J. C. Walter,
J. P. Chapin,
J. W. Duncan.

The Committee appointed by the Chair to act under the 4th resolution, comprise the following gentlemen:—J. W. Duncan, Thomas Richmond, E. S. Wadsworth.

Liberal Pay to Lecturers.—A Boston Newspaper says that E. P. Whipple, the essayist, received $3,000 the past winter, for lecturing in various places. The same journal informs us that Dr. Holmes, the witty poet, has been paid $800 for a single course of lectures. These facts explain the popularity of lectures in New England. Where lecturers are liberally paid, men of ability become lecturers; and when men of ability lecture, large audiences are easily obtained.

To Ship Owners and Captains of Vessels.

The Treasury Department at Washington has issued a Circular to all the Collectors of Customs in the United States, directing them to enforce the provisions of a law, passed and approved August 31, 1852, for the protection of the P. O. revenue, which it is well that the Captains and owners of vessels sailing on the lakes should understand, as a violation of its requirements involves a heavy fine. We subjoin the section of the law concerning the case:

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That no collector or other officer of the customs shall permit any ship or vessel arriving within any port or collection district of the United States, to make entry or break bulk until all letters on board the same shall be delivered into the post office at or nearest said port or place, nor until the captain or commander of such ship or vessel shall have signed and sworn to a declaration before such collector or officer of the customs, in the form and to the effect following, that is to say:

"I, A. B., commander of the [state the name of the ship or vessel,] arriving from [state the place,] and now lying in the port of [state the name of the port,] do, as required by law, solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be,) that I have to the best of my knowledge or belief, delivered, or caused to be delivered, into the post office at or nearest said port, every letter and every bag, parcel or package of letters that were on board the [state the name of the ship or vessel] during her last voyage, and that I have so delivered, or caused to be delivered, all such letters, bags, parcels, and packages as were in my possession, or under my power or control."

And the collector, and every officer of the customs, at every port, without special instructions, and every special agent of the Post Office Department, when instructed by the Postmaster General to make examinations and seizures, shall carefully search every vessel for letters which may be on board, or have been carried or transported contrary to law, and each and every of such officers and agents, and every marshal of the United States, and his deputies, shall at all times have power to seize all letters, and packages, and parcels, containing letters, which shall have been sent or conveyed contrary to law on board any ship or vessel, or on or over any post route of the United States, and to convey such letters to the nearest post office; or may, if the Postmaster General and the Secretary of the Treasury shall so direct, detain the said letters, or any part thereof, until two months after the trial and final determination of all suits and proceedings which may at any time within six months after such seizure be brought against any person for sending, or carrying, or transporting any such letters contrary to any provision of any act of Congress; and one half of any penalties that may be recovered for the illegal sending, carrying, or transporting of any such letters shall be paid to the officer so seizing, and the other half to the use of the Post Office Department; and every package or parcel so seized, in which any letter shall be concealed, shall be forfeited to the United States; and the same proceedings may be had to enforce such forfeiture as are authorized in respect to goods, wares, and merchandise forfeited by reason of any violation of the revenue laws of the United States; and the rules and regulations for the benefit and protection of officers of the customs and others, seizing goods, wares, or merchandise, for a violation of any revenue law of the United States, shall apply to the officers and agents making seizures by virtue of this act.

The following are the instructions of the Treasury Department in reference to the same:

The instructions of the 10th August, 1849, being applicable under the law of 3d March, 1845, as modified by the act of 30th August last, are also annexed, and will continue to be faithfully observed and enforced by officers of the customs. It will be seen that the act of the 31st August last requires all letters on board of vessels arriving within any port or collection district of the United States, to be delivered at the post office at or nearest said port or place, and the requirement of [illegible] of the 3d March, 1845, excepts from this requirement letters relating to the cargo or to the owner or consignee of the vessel. That exception is no longer in force, and all letters must be delivered at the post office as required, except such as the collector or other officer of the customs, in the exercise of a sound discretion, may deem it his duty to seize, as directed by law.

The provision imposing a penalty of one hundred dollars on the master of any vessel which shall break bulk before the delivery of the letters at the post office is unrepealed, and will be rigidly enforced. The oath in the form prescribed in the 3d section of the act of 31st August last, will be required in all cases to be taken before the collector or other officer of the customs, at the port, before the vessel will be permitted to break bulk or to be entered.

It may be proper to add that the penalty for the illegal conveyance of letters, by steamboats or other vessels, is one hundred dollars for each offence, to be paid by the owner or of the vessel, and fifty dollars by the master, under the 10th section of the post office act of 3d March, 1845.

We understand that this comprises the captains of all vessels to report at the Collector's office, in the manner prescribed, before they can break bulk, whether they do or do not carry letters.

Returning the Compliment.—Mr. March, speaking of the relief sent to Madeira from Boston, says:

"Long after those who will be kept alive by it, shall have gone to their last homes, the very name of Boston will be almost worshipped by Madeira."

This is only returning the compliment, for the name of Madeira has, for a long time, been almost worshipped by the "solid men of Boston."—Providence Journal.

SUPERIOR
FIRE AND WATER PROOF
ROOFS,
Manufactured by B. F. Barrett & Co.
CLARK STREET .... Over the Post Office.

THESE ROOFS, familiarly and extensively known as "Barrett's Felt and Composition Roofs," are warranted to be altogether superior to every other kind of roof now in use. From long experience in the business, and from some important improvements in their Composition—the results of careful observation and experiment—the Manufacturers are confident of being able to produce an article in their line, which cannot be surpassed, and they doubt if it can be equalled, elsewhere in our country. The various points in which their Roofs excel all others, will be shown, and ample evidence of their great superiority to tin or iron in respect to their fire and water resisting qualities, will be furnished, on application, to all interested.

All orders executed promptly, in the best manner, and with the best materials. [April 13—3mos&c

CLARENDON.
(LATE PHELPS HOUSE.)

THE subscriber having leased this well known House for a term of years, would announce to the public that it has been re-furnished in the highest style of convenience and elegance, and is now prepared in all respects for the comfort and convenience of guests.

The location of this House is central and convenient, being in the very heart of the business part of the city, and contiguous to each railroad depot, Lake Erie, &c., and affording the finest view of Buffalo and the adjacent country that can be had in the city.

It will ever be the purpose of the proprietor to provide the comforts of a pleasant home, in behalf of all who may favor him with their patronage. He trusts that the same patronage which has heretofore been bestowed by his former patrons in London, Canada West, as the Manager of the Clarendon House, and of the Empire State, may also be extended to him in his new vocation.

CHICAGO LETTER SHEET PRICE CURRENT.—The sheet is issued weekly, and gives a birds-eye view of the commercial state and doings of our city, containing all the receipts and shipments by canal, railroad and vessels; wholesale prices current; all important money statistics; state of trade generally; rates of freight, and commercial comments of value. It is issued in a convenient form for mailing, and our eastern friends ought to see it as often as possible. It will be found at our Counting Room.

The Puzzle not Solved.

The St. Louis Intelligencer publishes two solutions, as it calls them, of the Arithmetical Puzzle, and winds off with the exulting strain, "St. Louis against Chicago and the rest of the world, forever. Send on a few more." We are sorry to disturb the balances, if in favor of our neighboring city, and of one worthy correspondent of the Intelligencer, but we must say that we have received long since, scores of solutions like those in that paper of the 8th and 9th, and several that are more simple, but they are not considered in these parts as fair and correct. The objection to the first, is, that two of the digits 1, 2, 4, are smuggled in, they being derived from an addition, and not used in the process, as the other digits are. Moreover the 0 is not properly used at all. The objection to the second solution, is that fractions are used. There may be no other solution than those of this kind, or very similar, but if so, it is a question of no difficulty. We do not know how this is, but are very positively assured of the negative and affirmative. We are waiting to hear from our correspondent at Galesburg, who says that he can solve it.

LEAD.—Messrs. Houghtelling & Sheppard received two consignments of lead, on Monday, amounting to 3,000 pigs. About one-fourth of it came by the Galena Railroad, and the remainder by canal.

ASHORE.—Capt. Brown of the schooner Flying Cloud, from Kalamazoo, reports the schooner H. Y. Attrill ashore near the mouth of Kalamazoo river.

Capt. Keho of the schr. Lady Jane from Grand River, says the schooner Seventy-Six went ashore at that place last Friday, and the Arrow and D. Newhall went ashore the same day at Muskegon.

There is a report in the city that two vessels are ashore at Manistee.

PERSONAL.—We are gratified to notice that Jno. S. Wright, one of the editors of the Prairie Farmer, has returned to this city, yesterday, from London, where he has been since last December, introducing a valuable improvement in grain cutters to the English farmers.

We also learn by letters received from ... Scammon, who is now making a tour in Europe, that his health is much improved, and he hopes five or six months relaxation from business, together with the recreative and regenerating climate of the South of France and Italy, will completely restore him so as to enable him to engage again in the active duties of his business in this city.

AURORA.—We paid a hurried visit to Aurora on Monday, and instead of enjoying the quiet of a country town, as we expected, found everything as animated as it is in Chicago. Drays were driving in every direction, the streets were full of people hurrying to and fro on business, hotels crowded, strangers wanting to rent houses, buildings going up in every quarter, and everything betokening a most vigorous prosperity. Aurora is a growing town, and contains about as enterprising business men as can be found anywhere. The town contains between three and four thousand inhabitants, and the only thing that prevents it going ahead like an express locomotive is the want of houses. Such a thing as a house to rent is out of the question.

CHOICE STOCK.—Mr. B. F. Stuart passed through here the other day from Ohio, on his way to Kane county, with several head of choice cattle, including some genuine Durhams. He has taken a farm we understand, not far from Aurora, which he is going to stock with the best animals.

H. O. WAGONER, the Hominy Man, has left with us for examination by farmers, a specimen of seed corn, of the pure White, and sound as a dollar, which he has received from the southern part of Ohio. He desires to let it out to some good farmer, to raise corn from it, and to agree with him to sell him the corn in the fall at some stipulated price.

HORNER'S CHICAGO & WESTERN RAILROAD GUIDE.—A monthly issue of this kind is a great desideratum, and we are glad that Mr. Horner has seen fit to come forward to supply it. In these days of railroads in embryo, in infancy, youth and manhood, there are very few that can keep posted up in these matters, and Westerners will call for a good railroad guide as loudly as travellers from the East. Correct figures will ensure the work success.

MUSIC.—The vortex of business, which every one who settles in Chicago finds himself drawn into, has kept our citizens from devoting so much time and attention to Music as our Milwaukee neighbors seem to be able to do. There is no German Opera troupe here, but we have a German Philharmonic Society, the Gesange Verein, composed of thirty or more fine vocalists and a number of skilful performers on various instruments. Few of our citizens have perhaps heard their performance, but we can assure them that they far surpass the majority of musical entertainments with which Chicago is favored in the course of the season.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN AGENCY IN WASHINGTON CITY.—We direct attention to the advertisement of Joseph C. G. Kennedy, Esq., late Superintendent of the Census, who has opened an American and Foreign Agency Office at the Capitol of the United States. Mr. Kennedy's known abilities as a public officer, exemplified in the accomplished manner in which he performed the arduous and important duty assigned to the head of the Census Bureau, go far to assure the public that he will execute faithfully any business he may undertake. It is much to be regretted that the administration did not retain Mr. K. to complete the Census Work, for which he sacrificed so much, and in which he took so much interest. But party interest must be subserved at the expense of the country. The injustice done Mr. Kennedy in depriving the valuable statistical information, which he proposed giving to the world, that would ... see the light in any other way, we hope will be repaid ... by the opportunity he now offers to the people of the country who have business at Washington and in Europe.

M'LANE'S WORM SPECIFIC.

The following, from a customer, shows the demand which this ... has created wherever it has been introduced.

WM. H. MALLORY.

ARRIVED.—Some half dozen cargoes of lumber from Michigan ports have arrived to-day.

WISTAR'S
Balsam of Wild Cherry,
The Great Remedy for Consumption,
And the Best Medicine Known to Man

For Asthma of every stage, Liver Complaints, Bronchitis, Influenza, Coughs, Colds, Bleeding at the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, Pains and Weakness in the Side, Breast, &c., and all other diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

A very important disease over which this "Balsam" exerts a very powerful influence, is that of a

DISEASED LIVER.

In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances, when patients had endured long and severe suffering from the disease, without receiving the least benefit from various remedies, and when Mercury has been resorted to in vain, the use of this Balsam has restored the Liver to a healthy action; and in many instances effected permanent cures, after every known remedy had failed to produce this desired effect.

Besides its astonishing efficacy in the diseases above mentioned, we also find it a very effectual remedy in Asthma, a complaint in which it has been very extensively used, with decided success, even in cases of years' standing.
